Key issues

Corporate governance is critical to ensuring that a well-functioning system of checks and balances protects the interests of all of the company's stakeholders. The effectiveness of the Board of Directors (CGV1.1) is a key issue to be addressed: this can be gleaned from information on Board composition (independence and competencies) and its way of functioning (regularity of Board meetings, evaluation of performance). Other important corporate governance factors include the effectiveness of the Audit and Internal control system (CGV2.1), the protection of Shareholders Rights (CGV3.1) and the establishment of Executive Remunerations (CGV4.1) which align executives' and company's interests.

Company performance

- Monex's performance in the Corporate Governance domain is weak.
 - Due to the lack of relevant disclosure on its commitments towards issues linked to its responsibilities and risks in this domain, our assurance on the company's performance in the "Corporate Governance" domain is weak. In particular, the company does not disclose the necessary information to assess the directors level of independence, information regarding the audit and internal controls system in place, or information on the rules guiding executives' remuneration. Information on how ESG considerations may have been integrated in the Corporate Governance structure of the investor is not disclosed either.
